

Start at the Libraries' web page

1. Go the BearCat Online Catalog. Use the Basic Search function. Search for a book on literary terms. Do your search first as key words ("Words In Subject") and then browse for your term as a subject heading ("Subject begins with...")
 - a. What results did you get with your subject keyword search?
 - b. Did your subject browse search provide an explanation of your subject keyword results?
2. Go to the Advanced Search function in BearCat. Use the subject heading you identified in your basic browse search as a subject keyword search and limit your results to the Crumb Reference Collection.
 - a. List the call number and title of a book that you might use to begin your research for your first assignment
3. From the Libraries' web page, use "Start by Subject" to find research assistance for English. Choose the tab for "Articles". Link to Academic Search Complete. Search for Margaret Atwood as a subject. [Note: invert the name – last, first]
 - a. How many results? _____
 - b. Narrow your results to entries in Academic journals. How many results? _____
 - c. Narrow these results to entries with the subject "Criticism". How many results? _____